Discussion Leader

We are privileged to again have Nancy Williams as our discussion leader. Nancy has taught English at the University of Southern California; California State University, Northridge; and community colleges in California and Oregon. She enjoys reading, writing, and leading discussion groups on literature and film. Because she has been told reading is a dying art, she hopes to breathe some life into the body.

Join us for stimulating reading and lively discussion.

Participants can buy their own book. Check out one of the 4 library copies or check out the libraries electronic copy.
